THE WASHINGTON CEREAL COMPANY OF Washington, D. C. Authorized capital, $100,000. The Washington Cereal Company proposes to build a new factory on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, in the District of Columbia, for the manufacture of "steel cut" flour, Wheaten, he famous breakfast food, and all cereal goods generally. This company will be the sole and exclusive manufacturer of cereal products by the "steel cut" process—a process recognized and pronounced by eminent scientists as the truly correct mode of converting cereals into food for mankind. This is not a speculation, but solid, safe investment in an established business which has demonstrated its ability to earn between 12% and 15% regular dividends. The plant, property and books of this company have been investigated and are satisfactory in every particular. 800 of the leading grocers of the District are now selling our goods. We have testimonials from well-known wholesale men, grocers and bakers in this city, which can be seen at our office. To remove the factory from Staunton, Va., where it is now located, to the District of Columbia, and to enlarge the plant to meet the growing demands for our product, the company desires $25,000, of which $16,000 has already been subscribed, leaving but $9,000 worth of stock now for sale. Stock, $100 per share, payable $10 per share when subscription is made and balance in installments as required. No bonus, no scheme, no promoters. Full value for every dollar.
